Technical Rally In Stock Market As 'Shorts' Cover

List Reacts From Oversold Condition and Many Issues Rise Sharply; Trading on Light Scale

The "technical rally" about which the Street has been talking for two or three days took place at the Exchange yesterday, when stocks enjoyed a fairly vigorous recovery on extremely light trading.

The market was actually one of the duller five-hour sessions in weeks, yet the rebound in many industrial shares reached quite large proportions, indicating that the professionals were finding it necessary to bid for stocks in order to cover their requirements. But the fact that the market quieted down as prices rallied did not create a good impression.

The Street had less to worry about in the domestic credit situation. Call money seemed to be fairly plentiful around 7 per cent, whereas on other days this week it had shown a tendency to work higher levels. The evidence of temporary realization no doubt prodded the professionals into covering a portion of their short lines, although obviously there has been no important change in the credit situation so far as fundamental conditions go.

Bankers assert that the improvement in the railroad situation has released large amounts of side-tracked credits, but even so they do not see any signs of impending relaxation. It may be said, however, that the best banking opinion seems to be more optimistic than a few weeks back over the ability of the banks to take care of the abnormal demands of the crop-moving season now pressing.

Liquidation in the commodity markets is apparently proceeding apace and cannot fail in the long run to have a beneficial effect in that it will tend to relieve further the strain on credits and so aid in the process of deflation. Another slump occurred in the commodity markets yesterday.

One of the noteworthy features of the session, at the exchange yesterday, was the vigor of the recovery in a number of industrial shares which had earlier days this week been made the target of concerted bear effort. Railroad equipment shares, notably Baldwin Locomotive, were especially conspicuous. These shares had been depressed since Monday on selling that obviously originated in financial quarters and was plainly for the purpose of seeking profits on the short side. But yesterday they came back strongly and Baldwin Locomotive, which on Wednesday had fallen within a fraction of par, rebounded to 105. American Car and Foundry, American Locomotive and Haskell & Barker were other prominent features of the group.

The recovery did not stop with the equipments, however, but extended to the steels, the oils and the motors, all issues which have been more or less depressed of late.

About the only weak group comprised the sugar shares, which were again unsettled by the demoralization existing in the raw sugar market. Sugar is one commodity which is undergoing rapid decline, and it is only natural that the shares of the producing and refining companies should reflect this process.

In the motor group Chandler stood out as a point of conspicuous strength, following declaration of the regular dividend and the publication of an optimistic statement relative to the operations of the company and the state of the motor car industry in general. Oil shares were led in their recovery by the Mexican issues.

Continued weakness in the foreign exchanges seemed to have caused little concern in stock market circles, and sterling rates broke below $4.80 for a net loss of about 3 cents in the pound.

This is a season of the year when there is a large outward movement of American wheat and cotton, and the market is apparently having difficulty in absorbing the cotton and grain bills arising out of such transactions. So far the foreign exchanges have failed to respond to the more cheerful news from Poland.

Money and Credit
Wall Street was pleasantly disappointed yesterday when the rate on call loans opened at 7 per cent and remained unchanged throughout the session. The day before the rate had gone as high as 9 per cent and it was expected that another squeeze might be looked for. As it was, the supply of call funds at 7 per cent seemed amply sufficient to cover all needs.
